DECISIVE BATTLE MAY BE NEAR

MAN WHO SLEPT IN KING TUT'S TOMB
DIED ON MONDAY

PROF. JAMES H. BREASTED,
SCOFFED AT PHARAOH'S
CURSE, SUCCUMBS

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—(P)—Dr. James H. Breasted, noted archeologist and head of the Oriental Institute of the University of Chicago, died early today at the Presbyterian Medical Center.

Hospital authorities, in announcing the death of the scientist, maintained the same secrecy as to the cause of death as they had concerning his strange illness.

Dr. Breasted was stricken last week aboard the liner Conte di Savoia en route back to the United States. His illness was first diagnosed as tropical malaria, but later it was said he was suffering from an undetermined malady.

The archeologist was one of the discoverers of the tomb of King Tutankhamen. "Death shall come on swift wings to him that toucheth the tomb of Pharaoh."

Breasted, however, had frequently ridiculed this curse.

At the hospital it was said the family of the scientist would issue a complete bulletin of the illness and death later today.

A graduate of Northwestern University, class of 1888, he began his professional career as an assistant in Egyptology at the University of Chicago in 1894. In that year, he began his exploratory work in the Valley of the Nile, the Valley of the Kings of Egypt.

Dr. Breasted 11 years ago persuaded the Egyptian government to allow entrance to the tombs of the Pharaohs.

He went abroad recently as a delegate to the International Congress of Orientalists in Rome, last September.

Before he sailed several months ago, he was asked about the curse on the walls of Tutankhamen's tomb. "Tommyrot," he exclaimed, adding:

Freezing Weather
Over North Part
Texas Monday

(By The Associated Press)
Freezing temperatures, with frost in places, hit north Texas today.

It was down to 28 at Amarillo and other Panhandle points, while Abilene had a low of 30. Dallas reported a minimum of 31 and Palestine 28. Sherman likewise had a low of 28.

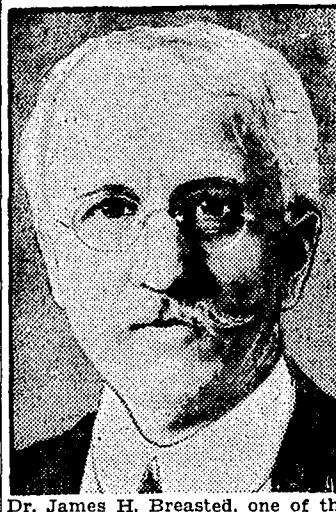

Most of the state was clear, except for cloudy conditions around El Paso, 22 of an inch rain at Brownsville and overcast skies in the Del Rio section.

The mercury dropped to 48 at Del Rio, 40 at El Paso, 52 at Corpus Christi, 40 at Austin, 42 at Houston and 64 at Brownsville.

To the north, Oklahoma City felt the sting of 26-degree weather.

Continued cold was forecast for Texas tonight.

THREE-HOUR SESSION BRITISH CABINET ADJOURNED
WITHOUT ANNOUNCEMENT

By CHARLES P. NUTTER
(Copyright, 1935, by Associated Press.)
LONDON, Dec. 2.—(P)—Authoritative sources predicted tonight, following the three-hour session of the British cabinet, that the League of Nations soon will place an embargo on all shipments of oil to Italy by League states.

Whether this suggestion was agreed upon by the cabinet was not officially disclosed, however, at its adjourned without announcing its decision.

It was the first full meeting of the ministers since the general election returned the national government to power, with the necessity arising of taking final decisions within the next ten days on the cutting off of Italy's oil supplies, but without committing itself to end the Italo-Ethiopian warfare.

The ministers were expected to take advantage of the days remaining before the Dec. 12 meeting of the League of Nations sanctions committee of 18 for full consideration of the problem, amid a general impression that Britain would take the lead in the action.

PAOTING, Hoephe Province, China, Dec. 2.—(P)—North China's political future hung in the balance tonight as the political and military leaders of the northern provinces entered into conference Gen. Ho Ying-Chin, minister of war.

General Ho came here from Nanjing with the latest and most liberal formula yet devised by the national government for the settlement of the North China situation.

If his program is accepted, the necessity for Japanese approval still will remain.

In informed Chinese quarters it was stated that the new plan, if adopted, would establish a Northern political council controlling the affairs of the five Northern provinces and permitting Northern troops to enjoy virtual independence while remaining within the framework of the Chinese republic along similar lines as that existing in the Southwest.

Kerr's action followed his application yesterday of a censorship on the Confessional synod, preventing pastors from sending communications which have not been approved by him.

The Rev. Martin Niemoeller, announcing he had been informed of the censorship, said the church was being placed in "absolute subjugation by the state."

Kerr had warned Nov. 28 that he would dissolve the confessional group asked for eight days in which to answer Kerr's ultimatum.

Although today's decree did not mention specifically the Protestant Confessional synod, the right of church taxation, collection of funds and convocation of synods was forbidden to the opposition groups.

Nazi church officials, appointed by Kerr's edict of Sept. 24, were given full authority.

"No other church unions or groups are permitted to execute church authority or administration," the decree said.

The opposition groups were prohibited from nominating ministers and assisting the clergy in nomination and examination of candidates. They were barred from making announcements from the pulpit.

TIENTSIN, Dec. 2.—(P)—The central Chinese government's war minister, General Ho Ying-Chin, stepped into the breach today against the movement of North China autonomy.

NEW CORN-HOG PLAN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—(P)—The public debt headed for a new high today as the treasury sought $90,000,000 for war relief financing and ready cash.

If the full loan is raised approximately thirty and one-half billion dollars.

Secretary Morgenthau's statement offered for cash subscription a $450,000,000 issue of 2 3/4 per cent 10-year bonds, and an equal issue of 1 1/2 per cent five year notes.

Holders of $418,000,000 in 2 1/2 per cent notes maturing Dec. 15 were offered the right to exchange them for the new notes or bonds.

This offering is in addition to the $100,000,000 of securities.

Full subscription of the cash offering would bring the total such borrowings since July 1 to more than $1,100,000,000.

According to President Roosevelt's recent estimates, this would leave about $62,000,000 to be raised during the last half of the fiscal year, assuming the entire sum allocated for recovery and relief is to be spent.

Interest rates on the new issues which are technically a part of an issue placed on the market in September, remain the same. The 1936 payments are to be made in two installments, the first about August 1, and the second about December 31.

A pro rata share of local administrative costs will be deducted from each producer's adjustment payments.

Assurances recently have come from President Roosevelt that spending is soon to be kept closer to income, followed by reduction of the debt.

Canadian Farmer Crowned King Of Wheat Growers

By ROBERT M. YODER,
Associated Press Staff Writer

CHICAGO, Dec. 2.—(P)—W.

Frederick Wilford, grain farmer from Stavely, Alberta, Can., was crowned wheat king for 1935 at the international livestock exposition's 17th annual grain and hay show today.

Wilford won the title, one of the major honors of the show, with grain of the reward variety.

His sample weighed 66.6 pounds a bushel.

Reserve champion of the wheat growers was another Canadian, William Rogers of Tappan, B. C. He showed Durum, of the Mindura type. His grain weighed 65.4 pounds per bushel.

Wilford showed hard red spring wheat. The same type won the wheat throne last year for another Alberta grower, Jack Alsop of Wembly.

This year marked the seventh consecutive victory for Canadian wheat in the international competition.

NINE HUNDRED WOMEN ARE SENT THROUGHOUT ITALY

By GEORGE JORDAN
(Copyright, 1935, by Associated Press.)

ROME, Dec. 2.—(P)—Italian business leaders today said that trade was slackening and that problems of labor and business credit were developing as the result of League of Nations' sanctions.

They said that the imports and about 1,000,000,000 lire (about $80,000,000) a month were being cut to a point where estimates as to the probable damages were impossible.

They suggested that if this trade were only halved, the reduction would be equivalent to the wages paid monthly to nearly 1,000,000 men.

Small firms manufacturing for export or dependent upon foreign material, said these leaders may be confronted with a critical situation unless they can use their facilities for other types of work.

ROME, Dec. 2.—(P)—Nine hundred of Italy's mothers and widows of war dead, "mobilized" by Premier Mussolini, took Il Duce's program of resistance to sanctions to the nation's communities today.

As the masculine army pushed its campaign on the war front, the feminine forces, for the first time, proclaimed as the "advance guard" that feminine Italian army" opposing League of Nations penalties, went throughout the nation carrying the slogan "Resist."

The Gold Star mothers and World War widows took their unprecedented charge from Il Duce in ceremonies yesterday and turned back to their homes today, to marshal their battalions against the League, after a reception by Pope Pius.

Longshoremen in the Southern ports have been on strike since October, fighting for union recognition.

JOLIET, Ill., Dec. 2.—(P)—William Ganschaw, 65-year-old "mercy killer," apparently fulfilled his part of a six-months-old suicide pact today by falling to his death from the gallery of a cell-house in state prison. He died soon afterward in a hospital.

Ganschaw was sentenced to 14 years on a charge of murdering his wife, Elizabeth, 58, whom he described as incurably ill. She was found dead from gas. Ganschaw said he intended to die with her, but after lying in a gas-filled room for fifteen minutes, got up and called the fire department.

The War at a Glance

By The Associated Press.

Reports in Addis Ababa indicated the Ethiopians had massed armaments totaling 400,000 men on the northern front and that a battle against the Italians was imminent.

Business leaders in Italy said the League of Nations' sanctions were cutting the nation's trade and that, as a result, labor and credit problems were developing.

The British cabinet met to consider imposition of an oil embargo on Italy by the League of Nations.

Italy's women offered their wedding rings to the government as they were mobilized to fight the League's sanctions.

The Canadian government disclaimed the initiative for the proposed extension of sanctions against Italy.

Emperor Haile Selassie, established in his war front headquarters at Dessye, received expressions of loyalty from his subjects.

ETHIOPIANS REPORT
400,000 MEN READY
TO FIGHT INVADERS

REPORTED TWO NATIVE
LEADERS JOIN FORCES FOR ATTACK IN NORTH

By The Associated Press.
Indications that a possibly decisive battle may be imminent were seen in a report to Addis Ababa that 400,000 Ethiopian soldiers were massed against the Italians in northern Ethiopia.

This report said Ras Seyoum and Ras Kassa, two of Ethiopia's leading generals, had combined their forces for a general offensive against the Italian troops which have pushed far south of their bases of supply.

Emperor Haile Selassie was at Dessye, not far south of the troop concentration, and Ethiopian sources thought it likely that the emperor has established its headquarters at a position to be close to the scene of combat.

Italian business leaders said League of Nations sanctions were causing a slackening of trade and that labor and credit problems were developing.

They stated that if Italy's normal import and export business of 1,000,000,000 lire (about $80,000,000) a month were cut in half the reduction would be equivalent to the monthly wages of 1,000,000 men.

The British cabinet debated today the problem of tightening the iron ring of sanctions imposed on Italy for initiating a war of occupation in Ethiopia.

Peace-Talk Languishes.

Talk of peace in East Africa, the purpose for which sanctions were imposed, languished as Britain's attention turned to an oil embargo to freeze that nation into submission to the will of her sister states in the League of Nations.

FARM FINANCING DISCUSSED FRIDAY REGIONAL MEETING

ALL SECTIONS OF NAVARRO
AND ADJOINING COUNTIES
WERE REPRESENTED

Farm credits under the varied divisions of the Federal government were discussed at a regional meeting on Farm Financing held in the auditorium of the Carnegie Library Friday with a number of officials on hand. All sections of Navarro and several adjoining counties were represented. The inner workings of the Federal Land bank, Federal Loan associations and other agencies were discussed in detail by several speakers.

The program carried out Friday morning included introductory remarks, etc., by A. E. Houston, FDA Regional specialist, Dallas, who presided; "Intelligent Use of Farm Credits" by S. A. McMillan, extension economist in Farm management, A. and M. College; "Farm Credit Administration Set-up" by W. E. Daly, assistant general counsel, Farm Credit Administration, Houston; and an inventory of those present by O. E. Lillard, FDA district supervisor, Dallas.

"Rural Resettlement Set-up," by Earl Wise, Dallas, district field supervisor and loan officer, Resettlement Administration, Dallas and "Farm-Debt Adjustment Service," by R. J. Murray, assistant regional director, Resettlement Administration, Farm-Dept Adjustment Unit, Stillwater, Oklahoma, were subjects heard at the afternoon session. A round-table discussion of various points and subjects were carried out following the conclusion of the meeting Friday afternoon.

Last of Series.
The meeting here Friday was the last of a series of thirteen held in various centers of the state.

In the beginning of his remarks Chairman Houston stated that the meeting was for the purpose of acquainting the farmers and others interested with the governmental agencies formed to help farmers credit.

After receiving the increase in tenancy due to farmers losing their homes, Houston said the indications were brighter for the next decade. He said there was a feeling among farmers that the big lending agencies desired to get hold of all the lands, but he assured them that was not the case. He said raw products were always the first to decline and also were the first to rise in price.

He declared that public sentiment and backing was responsible for the aid being given by the government in helping agriculture to come back.

Advice to Farmers.

Prof. McMillan said the A. and M. College had always tried to advance the interests of the farmers and referred to the 226 farm agents and more than 150 home demonstration agents in Texas under the extension department of the college. He said confidence was the basis of credit and advised farmers the best way to build up a credit rating was to owe as few people and organizations as possible, to keep promises, follow well-balanced system of farming, keep farm records, systematic saving and declining to sign other's notes. He said that when one farmer signed another's note, the first's credit was impaired and reduced.

In the beginning of his remarks, Mr. Daly pointed out the old system of credit that was primarily intended for commercial and business uses with quick turnovers, and not designed for farm and ranch loans. He outlined the efforts through the years in Federal agencies, beginning with the establishment of the Federal land banks in 1916 and the succeeding legislation by Congress until at the present time there are ample credit departments. The speaker outlined the personnel, duties and set-up of that far-reaching loaning agency—its policies, etc., then to the Farm Credit Administration with its governor responsible to the president of the United States, two assistant governors, a general counsel and four commissioners—Land Bank, Intermediate credit, production credit and cooperative bank commissioners.

Various Types of Loans.

Mr. Daly traced how the Federal Land Bank of Houston loaned money to Federal Farm Loan Associations, sent out appraisers, etc., and the necessary details incident to procuring a loan from this department. The Federal Land Bank does not loan directly to the individual. He explained the various types of loans for various purposes, how bonds are issued and other details of the financial plan. He stated the Federal Land Bank of Houston had loans out totaling 220,000,000 dollars and that these loans are as the best securities in the United States.

Funeral Services.

Funeral services for J. W. Childress, aged 70 years, former Corsican, who died at his home in Fort Worth Friday morning at 10 o'clock, were held from the First Presbyterian church here Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in Oakwood cemetery. The rites were conducted by Rev. W. R. Hall, pastor of the church.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Janie C. Childress, Fort Worth; three daughters, Mrs. F. C. Paul, Corsicana; Mrs. W. G. Woods, Fort Worth, and Mrs. W. W. Wade, Corsicana; a son, Mrs. Lizzie Sullivan, Fort Worth, and five grandchildren.

The funeral was directed by the Sutherland-McCannion Funeral Home.

Callbearers were H. T. Jackson, Fort Worth, Sam Blair, Dr. Dan Jamill, A. P. Wood, W. C. Johnson, C. A. Middleton and Chapman.

WAR SITUATION

a final fight against the penalties.

A two-fold problem was before the British, leader in the sanctions drive:

1. Should an embargo on oil shipments to Italy be imposed at Geneva? Commentators little doubted the cabinet would approve the move and transmit its decision to the league.

2. If the embargo goes into effect, and Italy makes good her threat of reprisals, what course shall Britain pursue? Italy already had warned that oil sanctions would be regarded as an unfriendly act.

British Uneasy.
Extreme uneasiness was evidenced in some British quarters over the situation.

A question tangent to the problem of an oil embargo presented itself to the British cabinet. It was, would the United States join in closing its market to Italy if the league institutes the embargo?

Emperor Haile Selassie, at the war front, settled down to a military routine after a trip from his capital, Addis Ababa. Thousands gathered in the sun-scorched square at Dessoue strategic trap concentration point and his headquarters, where picturesquely-clad chieftains prostrated themselves before the red ceremonial tent in which the King of Kings sat on a red-upholstered throne.

Siege Reported.

The Rome government announced 15 Ethiopians and six Italians were killed in a skirmish in the Eastern Tembin area, which is north and west of Makale. The communiqué said, "mopping up" operations were continuing in that section.

The play of international diplomacy was frequented by martial overtones. Reports received in London said Italian troops were being transferred from the Brenner Pass, on the Italo-Austrian frontier, to the Italo-French border.

Last week France advised Italy anything as serious as an Italian attack on the British Mediterranean fleet would bring the French government to Britain's elbow in support of the stand taken by the League of Nations.

Marked Anxiety in Geneva.

Marked anxiety arose in Geneva over the swift succession of events considered there to be threatening the peace of Europe.

Some league circles believed, however, an effective oil boycott would not only hasten the end of the African war but prevent Italy from complicating the European situation as well.

The Canadian government, meantime, disclosed the initiative for the proposed oil embargo. Ernest LaPointe announced in his capacity of acting prime minister that Canadian co-operation in sanctions would be limited to purely financial and economic measures of a pacific character which are accepted by substantially all of the participating nations.

Dispatches citing Canada as taking the initiative in the proposal for additional sanctions were attributed to "a misunderstanding."

In his address, Mr. Roosevelt seemed to be directing his remarks to the "gentlemen in well-warmed and well-stocked clubs" whom he referred to as complaining of government expenditures, and suggested that they go with him "on the battle line of human necessity."

In opening his speech the president with a broad smile greeted the crowd as "my friends and neighbors."

Speech Delivered Slowly.

Delivered slowly and emphatically, the president's words carried through amplifiers to the remotest corners of the windswept stadium.

It was interrupted frequently by cheers. His reference to the increase in the price of cotton from above five cents to 12 cents drew prolonged applause.

The women, hundreds in number, formally were proclaimed the "advance guard to that feminine Italian army" opposing League penalties while the masculine army pressed its campaign in Ethiopia.

The women went into communities throughout the kingdom bearing the slogan, "Resist."

While Mussolini reprimanded Italy's former allies, informed sources in Rome said any negotiations for peace awaited the next Franco-British move.

Experts in Washington presented themselves a question almost rhetorical in its ramifications. It was: What price in dollars and cents is America willing to pay to stay out of wars of the future?

Statisticians figured the cost at anywhere from nothing to billions of dollars, depending on the type of policy adopted and the scope of the war this country tried to shun. The figures were based on the trade which would be lost if the United States curbed or shut off exports to belligerents.

Some advocates of strict neutrality say the monetary costs should not be considered; others insist a policy should be formulated to keep us out of war and at the same time soften the economic blow as much as possible.

Currently, some observers believe the administration is heading toward a policy of embargoing munitions proper but applying quotas on war materials to limit exports to belligerents to normal size.

PRESIDENT MAKES DEFINITE PROMISE OF CURTAILMENTS

REPEATS DETERMINATION TO END DOLE AND SAYS
EMPLOYMENT INCREASING.

By FRANCIS STEPHENSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

ATLANTA, Nov. 29.—(P)—Before perhaps the greatest gathering in Dixie history, President Roosevelt today assured the nation of a decreasing deficit and reviewed his administration in comparison with "those tools' paradise years before the crash came."

Mr. Roosevelt announced the substantial achievement of the goal to put 3,500,000 employable to work from the relief roles by tomorrow.

In a lengthy speech which reviewed his administration in detail on the eve of the national campaign he concluded:

"As things stand today, and in the light of a definite and continuing economic improvement, we can now put the peak of employment revenues without the imposition of new taxes are increasing, and we can look forward with assurance to a decreasing deficit."

Governor Eugene Talmadge of Georgia, a critic of the national administration, was not in attendance at the president's annual Thanksgiving dinner at the White House.

There was no specific promise to end the dole, but the president said, "mopping up" operations were continuing in that section.

The play of international diplomacy was frequented by martial overtones. Reports received in London said Italian troops were being transferred from the Brenner Pass, on the Italo-Austrian frontier, to the Italo-French border.

The funeral will be held from the family home Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock with interment in the Dresden cemetery. The rites will be conducted by Rev. H. L. PROPOSED CHANGES
IN OFFICE SPACE
DISCUSSED MONDAY

A discussion of proposed changes in the office space of the assessor-collector's and county judge's quarters occupied much of the time at the regular meeting of the commissioners' court Monday morning. No definite decision was reached. It appears that if the changes are made whereby the assessing department and collecting offices are combined, the present collector's office and that occupied by the county judge will be combined by the removal of a connecting wall while the county judge's quarters will be moved to those occupied by the deputy assessors in the northwest corner of the floor.

The court was invited to a banquet for the physicians and dentists Monday night at the P. & S. Hospital.

Cairo Rioters Are Dispersed Monday

OAIRO, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Police fire guns into the air to disperse demonstrators today and arrested four rioters who entered the home of the liberal leader, Mahmoud Pasha, and damaged furniture.

Authorities attributed the trouble to dissatisfaction by the powerful nationalist WAFD party over the failure of the liberals to join in a demand for immediate restoration of the 1923 construction.

AN APPLE MUNCHER.

I want a bowl of apples on the table in the fall.
I want a grate fire blazing, casting shadows on the wall,
And I want the mother sitting at her knitting in her chair,
And I want to hear her saying: "What a noise you're making there!"

I know it isn't pretty and I know it's not polite.
But my way of eating apples is to relish every bite;

And I like to go about it, when we're sitting there alone, in a vigorous sort of manner just to make my gladness known.

I like to munch and crunch 'em as I'm pondering my book,
And at mother, sitting knitting; now and then to steal a look,
For I know just what is coming. Very soon she'll turn and say: "Can't you learn to eat an apple in a gentler sort of way?"

Oh, there's something in an apple that defies all table laws.
The very goodness in it seems to call for loud applause.

So I often say to mother when she "shushes" me: "My dear!

Where's the fun of eating apples, if the noise you cannot hear?"

STOCK SPECULATION.

The bull movement in stocks has got many people worrying again. For a long time they were afraid securities would never recover. Now they fear securities will rise too far or too fast.

There do seem to be the makings of a big speculative boom corresponding to that of 1927-1929. Industry is recovering rapidly. Agriculture has regained buying power. There is a vast deficit of consumers' goods in this country and industry and agriculture need billions of dollars' worth of new equipment. Then there is the heavy public outlay for relief projects. And over the whole there is a sort of rainbow arch, both promising and threatening, in the form of the huge gold movement to this country. This is what seems to worry cautious observers now.

Nearly $2,500,000,000 of gold has poured into this country, and been sequestered by the government, in two years. In the last 12 months the gain has been about $1,750,000,000. The total accumulation now is about 10 billions, at least half the gold in the world and about three times as much as we used to consider ample. And still Europe is drained further to give us an unnecessary and undesired excess. This movement is appreciated as an expression of confidence, but stimulates speculation.

The federal reserve banks now have more than $3,000,000,000 above legal requirements. There is said to be gold enough to provide, under the existing rules, $50,000,000,000 to $100,000,000,000 of new bank credit. The runaway possibilities of stocks, also commodities and real estate are obvious.

POPULAR MUSIC

Music is coming on. Or perhaps we should say, American appreciation of music. "Popular music" doesn't seem so popular now as classical music.

Among 12,000 radio listeners replying to an inquiry made by the New York Philharmonic as to their favorite music, the verdict was as follows:

Among dead composers Beethoven came first by a two-to-one vote. Among living composers Sibelius, the Finnish master, was first by a similar majority. The next three choices in order, among dead composers, were Brahms, Wagner and Tschaikowsky; among living composers, Ravel, Strauss and Stravinsky.

Even a novice can see the high grade taste represented in these preferences. An inquiry directed to an audience of Philharmonic listeners would hardly bring a verdict accurately representing average listeners. There are still a good many Americans who dial out symphony music and dial in jazz, blues, crooners, cowbells and hillbillies. Yet the verdict is still impressive. There would have been no such taste shown ten years ago. And for this improvement radio, with all its faults, is responsible. Given both good and bad music, eventually people learn to choose the good, just as they learn to prefer good food to bad.

Constitution have a practical application.

Is there any other case on record where a powerful nation did anything like this? The other colonizing powers are not only hanging onto their colonies, by force if necessary, but some are fighting for new colonies.

The American people still seem to believe in the political freedom they started with. The present Philippine policy is the latest proof.

We had our imperialist flag in the Mexican and Spanish wars, and in the annexation of Hawaii and other outlying territory. But after winning Cuba from Spain we made it a self-governing republic, subject only to American intervention in case of internal or foreign peril; and even that right has been renounced by recent treaty.

The fate of the Philippines seems unique among conquests. Taking them over, and then paying for them, we kept them as part of our own territory and educated them with Harry Truman, and then adopted them as our national

HOW DO THEY DO IT!—By Clive Weed*BANK SAVED.

Here is something that may interest all bank depositors. On Nov. 16 the Wilbur Trust Company of Bethlehem, Pa., closed, owing its depositors $4,500,000. On Nov. 20 it was reopened as the Union Bank and Trust Company, resuming business as usual. Accounts were still good. No depositor lost a cent.

This is said to be the first exercise of the powers of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation under the banking act of 1935. This powerful institution, along with the RFC, came immediately to the rescue of the closed bank. The assets were mostly good, but slow. Those slow assets were taken over by the FDIC, which can realize on them gradually with little or no loss. The RFC subscribed $350,000 of stock in the new bank and local interests subscribed $100,000, and the bank started business with $450,000 capital fully paid in.

Confidence is restored. Normal banking functions are resumed. Deposits which were fleeing from the old bank are now flowing back.

This sort of thing sustains faith in banks, and faith in banks supports faith in business recovery and stability.

Picturesque Totem Poles From the Far North Will Be Featured in Santa Claus Parade Here

"Family Tree That Makes Faces" Will Be Feature of Big Parade

Among the many wonders of other lands that Santa Claus has seen fit to bring with him when he makes his epochal visit to this city next Saturday, December 7, are several reproductions of Alaskan totem poles, sometimes called "family trees" that makes faces.

Living, as Santa Claus does, near the North-Pole, he travels across Alaska each year and has become conversant with customs among the Indians of the Northland. By far the most important possession of the Indians of Alaska are their totem poles and Santa Claus, through our messenger, the Prince of Love, has sent us a description of these totem poles and what they mean to the natives of Alaska so that we will have a deeper appreciation of them when we see them in the parade in Corsicana.

A totem pole is a wooden column carved with figures of men or beasts, or both. They may be as high as fifty feet, but are usually about twenty. They are colored with incredibly bright, painted beasts and birds and they mean to the Alaskan Indian what a coat of arms means to the English nobility today, or meant to the "best families" of America in revolutionary days.

Kinship With Animals.

Totem is a word that has been used in many senses and by many scientists, but it is in general the symbol of an old belief in human kinship with the animal world. All savages, of course, believe in the human intelligence of animals. Our own fairy stories show this feeling for in them the cat speaks and the dog carries on a conversation.

These savages believe that man and animals are on an even footing and can interchange ideas. They even believe they are actually, not figuratively, akin to beasts. They go even farther and believe that certain stocks of men are actually descended from or are developed somehow out of certain animals from which they can still claim familiar kinship.

So totem poles are to them family trees. To those who can decipher its crude imageries, the pole erected before a man's house is a plain history to be read, in picture, of the family that lives within. The fables beasts are no more strange to them than are to us the unicorn and lion that prance upon the British coat-of-arms. These beasts do not seem queer to us for we know them as symbols. Yet no lion ever took the posture of the British lion, nor twirled his tail so crookedly, and no such beast as the unicorn exists.

George Washington's coat-of-arms pictured a group of stars, but that does not mean he was a star gazer. No Indian of Alaska will eat flesh of the animal of which he thinks he is kindred. No man may marry any woman with the same family name (that is descended from the same common ancestor and using the same totem pole.)

Coming To This City.

Some of the other unusual poles seen by Santa Claus and Prince of Love were carved in figures of massive frogs with hands clasped over their fat bodies, or birds with fierce projecting beaks with painted wings out-stretched. Great rows of gleaming, highly whitened teeth are favorite designs like toothpaste ads. The colorings are always raw and vigorous and the faces often livid green with the cheeks highly touched with black.

There's nothing like them elsewhere in the world, we are told, and for our interest and education Santa Claus is bringing with him a number of reproductions of them. They are unusual in the extreme and the poles will take on life-like qualities walking down the streets of Corsicana in the parade being arranged in Santa's honor. Santa is making them one of his most important features this year and they will be interesting to both young and old.

BEAUTY CHATS

All requests for beauty information desired by Edna Kent Forbes can be accompanied by a fully self-addressed, stamped envelope (a.s.e.) and two cents in stamp to cover cost of printing and handling. WASHING YOUR OWN HAIR.

SUCCESSFUL HOME SHAMPOOING. If you want to make a success of the home shampoo, follow Miss Forbes' directions today and you cannot possibly fail. Directions are in the Beauty Chats.

If you want to be sure that your home-made shampoo will be a success, try the following method, and you will be sure to succeed. First, collect your materials, deciding which type of shampoo you need.

The best investment for the home shampoo is a package of castile soap flakes, sometimes called soap petals. E. K. Forbes cheaply by the pound, or else a package of powdered castile soap. If it comes to that, soap flakes made from any good pure toilet or washing soap will also do, and can probably be bought more cheaply. The point of all this is that you shampoo your hair with liquid, not solid, soap.

Put enough of the flakes to make a good lather into the bottom of a pint size pitcher, and add enough very hot water almost to fill it. If you have blonde hair and want to brighten it, add the juice of a lemon or add a couple of tablespoonsfuls of peroxide. If you have dark hair and want to make it coppery, add a tablespoonful of powdered Egyptian henna. If you have coarse hair and want to soften it, add one or two tablespoonsfuls of vinegar.

This pitcherful of liquid gives you enough for two or three soapings of the hair. Rinse between each soaping, of course. Rinse thoroughly afterward, using a hose, if possible. If you have hard water, put a tablespoonful of vinegar to a quart of water and pour this through the hair as a final rinse. If you have bleached hair, add the juice of a lemon, or half a lemon, and use the same way.

This takes all soap and dirt from the hair, and leaves it clean, soft and very glossy, and in an ideal state to take a wave. This wave can be done best with combs which come for the purpose, and Overnight selling orders from the South and scattered liquidation or local selling were reported, with some demand but prices eased slightly after the call on continued liquidation. Particularly in the spring months. At the end of the month, however, there was a market within a point either way of Saturday's closing quotations and the tone was no better than at the start.

The market opened slightly later. Offerings were not heavy but the demand seemed restricted to trade buying on limits of 11.73 for Dec. and 11.36 for May, or about 2 points net lower. A cable from Alexandria to the New York office said: "Egyptian government says that the Egyptian government, it is second estimate of the current Egyptian crop placed it at the equivalent of 1,566,000,000 bushels, 40 per cent above last year's production of 1,156,000,000."

REGISTRATIONS FOR Y INVITATION CAGE TOURNEY OPENED

ANNUAL EVENT FOR COUNTY SCHOOLS WILL BE STAGED DECEMBER 13 AND 14

Union High was the number one team registered for the 1935 Y. M. C. A. invitation basketball tournament held Dec. 13 and 14, it was announced Monday afternoon by C. E. Broughton, technical director, who is in charge of the tournament affairs. Invitations were mailed out to 34 of Navarro County's high school teams, and if previous year's records may be used as a criterion, between 20 and 23 teams will be on the dotted line.

Teams having last year's trophies are asked by Physical Director Broughton, to bring them to the Y so they can be polished and put on display. Teams winning the first three places will be given the cups, and members of each of those teams will be given individual trophies that are their permanent property. Any team winning first place cup three years in succession will be given the cup permanently.

Wednesday, Dec. 11, has been set as a deadline for entries, and the drawing for schedule places will take place Friday morning Dec. 13.

The Y invitation tournament is usually one of the most popular in the county for several reasons. One is that the Y. M. C. A. has an excellent gymnasium and shower and locker equipment, all of which is conducive to the playing of a better brand of basketball. Most of the county teams play several games prior to the Y invitational, but they do not play with the zest that is apparent in a competitive tournament.

The Y tourney is usually the first organized tournament where teams can play against their potential U. S. L. opponents playing under fire. It enables teams to get a line on their opponents and polish off their own offensive tactics and to find their own defensive weaknesses.

It is usually largely attended by basketball fans from all parts of the county, who make the Y. M. C. A. their headquarters for Friday and Saturday of the tourney week.

some observers to be headed toward a policy of embarguing munitions proper, but applying quotas on war materials to limit exports to normal.

Suppose another world war should break out, involving the same nations that were in the last one? How would the various plans affect American trade? Suppose we find the great bulk of all American foreign trade would be sacrificed. In the so-called normal years of 1926 this amounted to $4,808,000,000 or ten per cent of the country's total production of movable goods. Last year total exports were about $2,000,000,000.

The second plan, if confined to the commodities on which the administration is now centering attention, would cut normal trade approximately a billion dollars in a year such as 1926. But if it included cotton, the total would be close to $2,000,000,000.

We Believe In Corsicana And Navarro County

IN PRESENTING THIS PROGRAM OF "FIRMS WHO BELIEVE IN CORSICANA AND NAVARRO COUNTY," THE CORSICANA DAILY SUN AND THE CORSICANA SEMI-WEEKLY LIGHT ALSO GIVES TO ITS READERS, THE SIXTH OF A SERIES OF ARTICLES IN WHICH IT IS PROPOSED TO DEAL WITH THE INDUSTRIAL, EDUCATIONAL, AGRICULTURAL, AND OTHER ADVANTAGES THAT ARE TO BE FOUND HERE.

"A NATION OF KINGS"

Every citizen of the United States that owns a little home is a king in his own right. When the day's work is done, the free-born American who is prospering and who has been frugal, goes home to a place that belongs to him. He is greeted by his dog. He has his children around him. He smokes his pipe in an easy chair and enjoys his family. All of these things are his. He can hold his head high, greet his neighbor with a smile, and live in the full knowledge that he is a citizen of a good city and a great nation.

The responsibilities of kingship are large, just as responsibilities of life are large. They have always been large. They will ever be large. The test of character is to meet them. In Corsicana, our citizens realize that it is the responsibility of each of us, and are prepared to meet any condition or emergency in order to promote the progress and prosperity of our city and county.

The world has not gone to the bow-wows—Not by any means. Have confidence, therefore, in yourself and in your fellow man, and in your city in which your kingship is located.

Dare to do, if you live in or near Corsicana, you are in the best locality in the country in which to invest your money. Buy what you need now. Repair and renovate your homes and business houses. Spend your money for necessities now. Things will never be cheaper. Help get the business wheels in gear for Corsicana and Navarro county, get prepared for bigger and better things to come.
